TRAVELLING FOREST '21

This year, as well as continuing our 'Virtual Forest' online presence, Forest of Imagination will include a series of multisensory pop-up events and installations along the theme of 'Gathering Perspectives on the Landscape City' and in response to the climate emergency.

Locations include Bath Spa University's Locksbrook Campus, Bath City Farm, Batheaston's Secret Garden, Beckford's Tower, American Museum & Gardens and the Holburne Museum.

Forest of Imagination is open to all and actively inclusive. We invite children, families and people of all ages to explore, make and learn in a creative, intuitive and imaginative way. Everyone is welcome, come along and play!

To see Forest of Imagination continue to grow and return each year please donate via Local giving by visiting giv.today/forestof

CREATIVITY, CARE & COMPASSION

COVID-19-secure notice

All of the Travelling Forest 2021 locations will be outside and socially distanced. For the safety of all we are complying with the latest Public Health England guidance.

Kind request

We ask that you do not attend in person if you have symptoms that may be caused by coronavirus (COVID-19), or you've had a positive test result. You should also stay at home if someone you live with or someone in your extended household has symptoms, or if you've been identified as a close contact of someone who has tested positive.

LIVING TREE: FOREST OF IMAGINATION

Landscape architect Andrew Grant RDI FRSA, co-founder of Forest of Imagination, begins the evening by introducing the themes of this year's Travelling Forest 2021. Artist Andrew Amondson and computational designer Alexandre (Sasha) Mballa-Ekobena will share the story of the Living Tree as a gift to Sir Ken Robinson and introduce the concepts underpinning the "Imagine If" workshops with Design students from Bath Spa University. Kate Robinson and Anthony Dunn will share an update to their work in relation to Sir Ken Robinson's provocation to "Imagine If".

THURSDAY 24 JUNE
ONLINE

11AM-12NOON BOOK NOW

ONLINE TALK

Hosted by Dr Penny Hay, spoken word poet Toby Thompson will be in conversation with Muskan and Supriya from Slam Out Loud to talk about their recent process of collaboration and each will perform a poem.

4-6PM BOOK 4PM BOOK 5PM

Kathy Hinde
RIVERSIDE WALK

An underwater listening experience will reveal the hidden, submerged sound world of Bath. People will be invited to listen from an underwater perspective, connecting with the watery environs, gaining an immersive insight into these often hidden, intricate, aquatic ecosystems. Kathy will invite people to join her on underwater listening explorations using hydrophones with wireless headphones, in order to map the silvery, watery veins of the city. These recordings can then be embedded into an adaptive podcast for people to explore and interact with at their leisure. A pre-recorded version of "Riverside" will be shared online.

AVON: RIVER: RIVER

(Online Visual Talk)

Each river has its own narrative and voice that speaks of the places it runs through. Water is a connective element in the landscape, running from one place to another. River water sculpts the landscape, carving and shaping the land it travels through as it makes its way from Source to Mouth. And the river shapes how we live too. Water is also the great solvent, and all our histories are dissolved into the memory of water. Water is life, we build our enclosures, villages, towns, transport networks, industry and cities around rivers. Rivers are lines of connection for the movement of people, goods, songs and stories. Following a river and listening to its voice means you follow many of the stories of a place.

7PM

Ben See and Jessica Palmer
PORTRAIT OF A TREE, A SONG FOR THE FOREST

Ben and Jessica are collaborating on a song and film which captures the character and story of a 160 year old Black Mulberry Tree in Bath-easton Secret Garden. Ben will interweave his sung composition with video of Jessica's collaged and cut artwork of the Mulberry Tree. This is entirely virtual and will be shared online.

SENSE OF BELONGING
A Sense of Belonging is a playful exploration of your sense of self in the environment around you. Take yourself on a journey and explore with what makes you you, what is your imprint on the land and what do you want to leave behind? This is a self led workshop with a series of written invitations that will help guide this journey. It is suitable for children over 7 with an adult and can be done solo or in pairs.

LIFE IN A SQUARE (WORKSHOP)
Explore the biodiversity (insect, flora, fauna) through the lens of one place in Bath, that will gradually form part of a map of biodiversity across and around the city that we can revisit to see how insect and wild flower species are doing each year to encourage and support species growth. Explore, observe, discover, record, draw and discuss how biodiversity is closely linked to the climate emergency. Learn 'how to make your local spaces more insect friendly', with simple steps like creating your own bug house, and some wild flower seeds to take away to plant to encourage pollinators. We will be bringing together drawings of bugs and flowers and ideas about how to encourage biodiversity from the workshops to share online and in print after the event.

AMERICAN MUSEUM & GARDENS

Artists: Matthew Leece and Jono Burgess
FLOWER & PLANT INSTALLATIONS
Sitting on a magical land, the American Museum has dozens of springs running up and down. Some above the ground, some below, connecting another world to our own. These springs carry seeds and plants from our world to the next. New, wonderful and colourful species are cropping up on the land. Come join us on our journey of discovery through the extraordinary and mystical grounds at the American Museum.

Cambridge Curiosity
SPACES FOR LIBERATED LEARNING
Where does creative learning flourish? Forest of Imagination has worked with arts and well-being charity Cambridge Curiosity and Imagination for many years celebrating how creative learning with children can happen everywhere in our cities - from grand museums to the cracks between pavements, from city parks to scruffy hedgerows, from recycling centres to cramped classrooms. Together we want to map all the spaces in our lives for what we are calling 'spaces for liberated learning' and share these with policy makers to continue to campaign for children's and communities' creative rights. We invite you to share stories - as a parent, educator, artist, environmentalist, playful rebel, human - of where you have experienced creative learning on your own, with your families, in your home, while at work or in your community. Join our online workshop to share your experiences and help us create a visible network.

MAPPING THE MINI-FORESTS
Outside interactive storytelling show.
Join Oliver Lark of Patchlarks and discover a great adventure in the miniature worlds of moss and lichen. Combining joyful storytelling, self-directed explorations, and meditative investigations we'll complete tasks and challenges, uncover scientific secrets and build our mossy mythology entangled in the little things that grow all around.

"You may know what the mini-beasts are but have you heard of the Mini-Forests? Well, nor had I until a mysterious message was left outside my door, now I see them everywhere I look. But they need our help!"

THE HOLBURNE MUSEUM

Artist: Pippa Pixley
NATURE'S FINGERPRINTS PRINTMAKING WORKSHOP
Join Pippa in a Nature's Fingerprints Printmaking Workshop to learn how to make your own water-floated concentric monoprints using natural & sustainable materials.

In this exciting monoprinting workshop we will be floating naturally derived inks on a bath of water: a mesmerizing process that creates swishing and swirling shapes and patterns reminiscent of the concentric rings that form within the structure of a tree as it grows through a cycle of seasons. Each print we transfer onto the specially prepared papers will be as unique as a fingerprint, an image with it's own character and history, just as each fingerprint is unique and has its own story to tell. Pippa will share the history and secrets of this ancient craft as well as stories about the trees that inspire her work; what they can teach us about our climate and our world.

Artist: Beth Archard
DOODLE CHATTER
Discover the benefits of the doodle! With pen and paper and easy conversation participants might be given the headspace for reflection, tools for relaxation, and a pathway for reconnection with one another. Beth's interest in the psychology of the everyday stirs a curiosity to know how the combination of verbal and non-verbal communication, and the expression of a personal visual language will affect how we reflect and reconnect. How will we feel before, during and after the doodle? Doodle Chatter aims to provide an experience to engage an audience, promote interactions between people, encourage our capacity to be self-reflective citizens, and explore the possibilities of visual language.

LIVING FOREST AT THE EGG THEATRE BATH
Berlin based artist, Andrew Amondson creates an immersive Living Tree Forest in The Egg, together with computational designer Alexandre (Sasha) Mballa-Ekobena and Forest of Imagination artists and audiences. Listen to the secrets being whispered in the roots of the trees, explore the Living Tree and create soundscapes and more in the canopy. Bring a class of children to listen, play, imagine and create alongside a team of multi-genre arts practitioners in The Egg's transformed spaces.

Imagine if there was a forest in The Egg ... imagine if we could hear and see and feel the forest talking... Imagine if you could plant a tree that would save the world... and that the tree is you.
